Psychedelic-Assisted Care and the Role of Occupational Therapy (1 PDU)

Presenter Christy Billock, PhD, OTR/L, DipACLM

Recent research on psychedelic-assisted therapy reveals promising potential for treating complex mental and neurological health conditions. Occupational therapy's unique and diverse skill set can help meet the evolving needs for qualified health professionals to deliver psychedelic-assisted therapy. This Special Topic Forum will examine the expanding body of psychedelic clinical research across various diagnoses and illuminate how occupational therapy's distinctive scope of practice can integrate into the delivery of psychedelic-assisted therapy.

See Learning Objectives on next page.

Christy Billock, PhD, OTR/L, DipACLM, is a licensed occupational therapy practitioner and scholar dedicated to the intersection of conscious living, health, and well-being. She holds a PhD in occupational science from the University of Southern California, where her doctoral research examined women's lived experiences of spirituality in everyday life. Dr. Billock spent 24 years as an occupational therapy professor and founded an occupational therapy doctoral program. She is a board-certified diplomate of the American College of Lifestyle Medicine and holds certifications as a Psychedelic Coach, Conscious Dying Coach, and Death Doula. She completed the Psychedelic Facilitation Certificate Program at the UC Berkeley Center for the Study of Psychedelics and is a Level 1 Trained Internal Family Systems Therapist through the IFS Institute. An accomplished speaker, Dr. Billock has presented at numerous state, regional, national, and international professional conferences. Her scholarly contributions span a range of topics, including spiritual care and lifestyle medicine, with multiple publications to her credit. She is a co-founder of the American Occupational Therapy Association's Lifestyle Management Community of Practice and has demonstrated leadership in advancing the profession. Dr. Billock has been honored with numerous awards recognizing her contributions.
