Incorporating OTPs Expertise into Healthtech Development (1 PDU)

This event will highlight the critical role that occupational therapy practitioners (OTP) can have in driving innovation. There will be a high-level review of how the occupational therapy clinical evaluation and treatment mirror the design thinking process and how that can be used as a clinician's advantage within technology.

About the Presenter

Hannah Pugh, OTR/L, is an occupational therapy practitioner turned healthtech professional and founder of Practitioner Pivot, where she helps clinicians explore fulfilling nonclinical careers. With a passion for empowering others, she draws on her own pivot journey to guide healthcare professionals toward roles that align with their values and strengths.
